NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON

Women Empowerment: A Feminist Discourse Conference Secretary's Address

TRUE - COPY

"A feminist is anyone who recognizes the equality and full humanity of women and men"

- Gloria Steinem

Male domination in Indian society is adversely affecting the status of women in India. Indian women are feeling insecure that is why she confined to the four walls of house. It derogates her growth and makes her dependent on their male members of the family. Increasing rate of crime against women results in creating hurdles in the path of development of Indian women. Indian Legislations are playing pioneering role in safeguarding and ensuring security and safety to Indian women. This helps to improve social, economic and political status of Indian women in the society.

In today's era, Indian women being subject to number of crimes which includes namely domestic violence, sexual harassment at work place, molestation, rape, dowry death, abduction, cruelty etc. The major factor responsible for this Patriarchal system prevailed in the Indian society. Male dominating society force women to lead life of downtrodden and they are vulnerable section of the society. The Constitution of India enshrined some important provisions for the safety and security of Indian women against the heinous form of offences which often committed against them.

I wish you all a great success to all the researchers and participants of this conference

10. Gender Bias and Injustice

Madhura Kalamkar

Abstract

In this era of automation and technology, central concept of gender equality is an unaccomplished undertaking for mankind. Gender justice in its accurate sense implying equity and just treatment for both the sexes is a distant dream. The researcher centres around concept of social justice and part played by legislation in ensuring a society free of any form of discrimination. The attempt in a male-dominated society to tip the balance in favour of the fair sex has had a negative impact on the male gender's rights.

Our Constitution highlights the Right to Equality as the bulwark of a democratic society like ours where there the delivery of justice is not merely based on gender. Every individual has inviolable rights founded on the genesis of justice that cannot be run roughshod over even by the idea of society's welfare. To ensure social justice, legislation should be humanized and justice should be rationalized.

Humans are the civilized and the most intelligent lot among all living beings. Therefore, the wants and needs of the human race keep changing. To keep pace with the changes, the legislation has to change too. The aspect of social justice and equality is not new. However, as the genders try to break the stereotypes, clashes are bound to occur and the same could be avoided with active and visionary involvement of the legislative bodies and the society at large.

Social Justice and Equality

"Justice, sir, is the greatest interest of man on earth. It is the ligament which holds civilized beings and civilized nations together. Wherever her temple stands, and so long as it is duly honored, there is a foundation for social security, general happiness and the improvement and progress of our race.

And whoever labors on this edifice with usefulness and distinction, whoever clear as its foundations, strengthens its pillars, adorns its entablatures, or contribute to raise its august dome
